Military Changes

This community has learned with much satisfaction that the rumor of the removal of Gen Alvord and certain other officers was without full foundation we hope that no such event, at least for the present will take place

It is perhaps proper for us to state, that we learn by letters received from Washington and from intimations in the correspondence of the Sacramento Union, that an extraordinary course has been pursued in reference to some of the officers holding commissions in this District Charges, involving their integrity and loyalty, have been secretly prepared and privately forwarded by some of the persons upon whom Mr Lincoln most unfortunately for Washington Territory, and for the success of his own party there, has conferred civil appointments and such secret and base slanders have been received with consideration been also endorsed, when they really deserved the contempt and rebuke of the Department

As to most of the officers assailed, we know that the accusations are utterly false—as to all of them, we believe the charges are the offspring of jealousy and an inordinate self conceit, which have made some of the petty civil officials in that Territory, suppose themselves entitled to the profound obeisance of everybody else, and when any man, justly estimating their character and pretences, has treated them deservedly, they have gone in a mad rage to Washington, and demanded the removal of those who did not acknowledge their supreme consequence That is the whole cause of the accusations Officers of the army stationed there, have supposed that it was no part of their business to interfere in the factious political squabbles that have been going on, but have confined themselves, so far as we know or can learn, to their legitimate military duties In thus acting, they did right, and those who have secretly, basely and wantonly assailed them—though temporarily succeeding in their base purpose—will before long discover that they have done themselves harm, and have imposed a heavy burden upon the party, with which they now profess to act

We regret that there is any occasion to make this statement, but it is made, as an act of justice to men who we believe are as faithful and loyal as their accusers, and because we are unwilling that the Republican or Union party should bear the reproach to which it is exposed, by the action of some of those who claim by their official position to represent it, and to make it responsible for their personal resentments, grievances and misrepresentations

TERRITORIAL OFFICERS —The Overland Press states that in Joint Convention, at Olympia on the 9th inst, B Harned was elected Treasurer, U E. Hicks, auditor, and J P Judson, Librarian A caucus of sixteen Union members held on the 7th, had nominated for Treasurer, D R Bigelow, for Auditor, A W Moore, and for Librarian, S N Woodruff, but the result shows that the power of the caucus was not great enough to control the action of the Assembly We know nothing of the causes of the failure to make the desired connection, but so long as Ananias in the Surveyor General's office, undertakes to dictate the course of the Union party, we expect its defeat, for honest men will not allow themselves to be controlled by such an infamous knave and renegade in morals and politics

DEFAULTER IN CALIFORNIA —Dr Warren, who was State Controller during Gov Stanford's administration, has become a defaulter to the amount of twelve thousand dollars and upwards. He has escaped by steamer to Panama but his sureties will be compelled to pay up what is missing Suit has been instituted against them by the Attorney General Office holding in California seems to be destructive to the honesty of men of all parties though a Democrat would probably have managed to save about ten times as much as Warren did.

CARING FOR THE PACIFIC COAST —The Bulletin announces on satisfactory authority that the prominent and able Major General, whose appointment to the command of the Department of the Pacific has been reported by telegraph, is Gen McPherson, and states in regard to him, that he graduated first in his class of 1853, at West Point, to which he was appointed from Ohio his native State He was engaged on the defenses of New York harbor and Hudson river until 1857 He was charged with the construction of Fort Delaware in 1857, and of the fortifications on Alcatraz after that The defenses of Boston harbor were entrusted to Capt McPherson's charge in 1861, but before the year expired he was appointed aid de camp to Gen Halleck and was Chief Engineer of the army of the Tennessee when Forts Henry and Donelson fell before it, and at the bloody battle of Shiloh He was in Hooker's staff, with the rank of colonel, while the Union army lay before Corinth He was made Brigadier General of volunteers in the spring of 1862, and given military charge of the railroads of West Tennessee in the summer In October of the same year he was made a Major General of volunteers He was with Grant in his expedition against Vicksburg, and when that campaign gloriously ended, Grant left McPherson in charge of the reduced city It certainly will be a happy thing for California to have a general in command of the Department of the Pacific who is as expert in the construction of fortifications, as "in report" with the authorities at the War Office, and who has shared notably in the most brilliant and hazardous campaigns of the war to put down rebellion The same paper adds

We are assured that the fast new iron ship Historee, of ten guns has already been ordered to this coast and that others of the same class will soon come forward and moreover, that the Navy Department has given orders that at least one ship of the Pacific Squadron be kept perpetually in San Francisco harbor With such precautions and such further measures as may be adopted for our defense as a commander who has been accustomed to inspect harbor fortifications with a practical eye and to construct them where needed, will be likely to be put in train there is no longer for our part and little for our commerce

SAN FRANCISCO POSTOFFICE —We are very sorry to see the announcement of the removal of Hon Samuel H. Parker, who has filled the office of Postmaster in San Francisco, to universal acceptance, since the inauguration of Mr Lincoln We hope the report is unfounded, for besides the thorough fitness of Mr Parker for the duties of his position, his political standing and services, if such things ever deserve consideration, justly entitle him to the honor conferred upon him He is one of the few original Republicans, who were permitted to fill an important office on this coast—not one of the time serving demagogues, who jumped at the last hour into the winning party, claiming the highest reward because they jumped—and if such a man is removed without cause, the Administration will inflict more injury upon itself than upon him It is stated that Conness demanded his removal, on account of Parker's refusing to support Conness for the Senate—if so, and if such a demand is to be complied with, we are certainly entering upon an extraordinary state of things We have heard of bargains in advance to secure offices, but those were made, as it was said by way of excuse, to defeat Democrats in this case, a faithful Republican for many years, is to be punished because he dared to prefer a Republican as his Senator, to one who had so recently come from the ranks of Democracy, that it was pardonable to doubt the expediency of trusting him, such schemes of revenge on the part of Conness are disgraceful to him and will not, we hope, be tolerated by the President

WHERE IS WACONDA?—This question has been put to us, and we answer to the best of our knowledge, that Waconda is the name lately given to a pleasantly situated village, twelve miles north of Salem It is the first stage station on the route from Salem to Portland. Its present business is transacted by the following, as we learn, to wit one family physician, one storekeeper, one surveyor, one lawyer, one blacksmith shop, one wagon maker, one plowmaker, one brickmaker, one meat market and three carpenters the Baptist denomination is building a handsome church The village presents quite an active and business like appearance. The post office at Belpasse supplies the mail facilities

VENERABLE VEGETABLE —The editors of the Scientific American have received from California a piece of wood from a tree thirty feet in diameter, the annual rings upon which indicate the age of the tree to be 6,300 years This leaves the little saplings of our ancient friends Nebuchadnezzer and Socrates standing out in the cold, and carries us back to a period long before Eve ate the fruit stolen from an apple tree, and Adam set up for a tailor by stitching fig leaves into aprons for "self and spouse"

A BRECKINRIDGE JUNIOR —The Cleveland Leader says that the son of John C Breckinridge, who was taken prisoner at Chattanooga, while recently in conversation with Sergeant Major Tisdel declared himself strongly in favor of the Union He said that he had been forced into the Confederate service by his father The young man thinks it would be only necessary to put down the leaders of the rebellion to secure a prompt and honorable peace This statement is made on the authority of Major Tisdel who had the conversation with young Breckinridge

Adjutant General Drum of the Department of the Pacific has published a note in the Sacramento Bee, stating that the army adviser tisement published in the Marysville Express was sent to that paper without the knowledge or authority of General Wright by the mistake of a clerk, it was to have been sent to the Appeal—one of the best Union papers on the continent We suppose a similar mistake was made as to the Intelligencer at Jacksonville

CHEAP FLOUR —Flour was selling in Bannack on the 27th ult, at prices ranging from $40 to $50 per hundred Kerosene oil sold readily for $10 per gallon

Letter from Eugene City.

EUGENE CITY, Jan 14, 1864

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The suggestion in my last in reference to mail matters seems to have provoked a good readable editorial but don't let the subject stop there, I pray you Can't some of you Portlanders get up some blank memorials and send around (say with the railroad memorials) into every neighborhood for signature at once? For fear it may be neglected, some of our citizens have prepared a manuscript petition which is rapidly receiving signatures Ours runs about in this way

To the Hon Post master General The undersigned pray you to make no change in the mail route from Sacramento California, to Portland, Oregon in which the mails will be carried in any longer time or with any less certainty or regularity than at present Therefore we pray that the contract may be let to the California Stage Company with such increased compensation as may be reasonable

If you will send us some printed ones which embody the substance of the foregoing the list of names can easily be attached, but let no time be lost

Our usually quiet town was thrown into considerable excitement yesterday by a reckless shooting exploit which almost resulted fatally A returned miner named William Splawn, under the double stimulus of bad whisky and hurrahing for Jeff Davis drew a revolver and threatened to shoot several citizens, and a few random shots were actually fired as if to show that he was really "in it" The City Marshal and one or two assistants then attempted to take the weapon from him when a violent scuffle ensued, resulting in another discharge of his revolver, the ball barely missing several persons who were approaching and severely wounding one of them Horace Smith, landlord of the St Charles Hotel—the ball entering the left breast and going entirely through the body, but not quite reaching any vital part His wound is not considered dangerous and he is quite comfortable to day Splawn was promptly locked up in the county jail and to day the matter is undergoing examination before the City Recorder, A A Skinner, Esq

The winter has been remarkably mild thus far—no snow and but a few days of freezing weather A warm heavy rain has roused the river this week to the highest stage of the season—so that some of our sanguine townsmen are looking chittle for the second arrival of the boat, COMUS

AN EXTRAORDINARY CHESS PLAYER —Let me tell you of a wonderful chess player, an account of whose performances I received lately from a distinguished and learned Hindoo pundit here Ram Shandish Bal Chesshur The chess player came from Madras to Bombay where Ram Shandish saw him He is between forty five and fifty year of age He plays several games—three, if I remember—blindfold and with them At the same time plays a game of cards—there are 120 different cards in a Hindoo pack—and wins At the same time with these games going on he is given rolls sums of multiplication to the extent of four figures (e g 7 497 by 8 9997) and gives the result At the same time a sentence of not more than one hundred words, each word being numbered is given to him irregularly (15 of 92 but 61 pitcher 16) and he gives the whole sentence During the game a bell is rung every one or two seconds and he gives the number of times it has been rung At a man stands behind and throws little pebbles one by one against his back, these too he counts And after the games are over and all these are told he recites a poem in perfect rhyme which he has composed during the sitting' Ram Shandish is assured on an entirely credible witness and a very clever man every way Cor Host and Courant

SUBSTITUTES IN RICHMOND —The Richmond Enquirer says that two substitutes have been recently purchased in that city, one for ten thousand, another for eleven thousand dollars The Enquirer remarks

"Considering the manifest destiny of the substitute system, this is rather a heroic temptation of fate provided the principals design remaining in the Confederacy to luxuriate upon the surplus of their fortunes But while so many are departing the country and leaving non combatants behind to take care of their property, it is not probable that such gentlemen will await the action of Congress on the substitute question To massa fortune, convert a portion of it into real estate, and another portion of it into gold then to bet sail for Europe to await the termination of the war while the wife stays at home as a locum tenens of the property, is a scheme becoming vastly popular just now with substitute men"

THE COPPERHEADS AND GENERAL GRANT —The Washington correspondent of the St Louis Democrat has the following

The Copperhead delegation from Illinois are understood to be quietly feeling the pulse of the country as to the policy of presenting the name of General Grant as a candidate for the next Presidency How on earth they can do this, is accounted for only on the supposition that they like their father the devil, being sick, "saints would be. This effort on the part of the Copperheads to bring forward General Grant as a Presidential candidate has been going on for sometime It may as well be understood, first as last that General Grant will not accept the Copperhead nomination if tendered him However, as an enthusiastic Copperhead acknowledged to me to day, McClellan played himself out with his friends by his Woodward letter, and the party would want somebody to talk about as their candidate and they can't hurt Grant by so doing so let em go on

OPPOSITION TELEGRAPH LINE —We clip the following from the Bulletin's New York letter

With regard to the new line from your city to the Atlantic States there is much diversity of opinion among telegraphers as to its success in a pecuniary point of view, the present line being as they assert, scarcely able in spite of its monopoly of business to pay a satisfying dividend to its stockholders But, as there is plenty of capital at the bottom of the new enterprise and as, moreover its projector E O I Smith is not in the habit of backing out of an object which he has once fairly started especially in case where he has a personal pique to gratify the question of the eventual existence of two telegraph lines to the Pacific may be considered as decided in the affirmative

BAD PROSPECT —Should there be a settlement of the present national troubles the Copperheads will be in a sad condition During the war they have by their hypocrisy earned the just contempt of both Union men and Secessionists They have endeavored to make each side believe that they were its friends When with Union men they denounce Union men and when both are present they merely talk about 'Old Abe Lincoln' They will be despised hereafter as men worthy of no confidence and as too timid and hypercritical to either support or oppose the Government —Mariposa Gazette

PROTRACTED LAW SUIT —The supreme tribunal of Madrid has just given final judgment in a suit which had been under litigation two hundred and forty years and which involved the succession to the inheritance of Pizarro, the invader and conqueror of Peru

WEATHER AT THE DALLES —A Dalles letter of the 12th says "We had over a foot of snow here when it began to rain and is raining hard yet, [U N] Snow is going fast and the ice must soon give way unless it turns cold

Letter from Placerville

PLACERVILLE BASIN (IDAHO) December 27th, 1863

EDITOR OREGONIAN

When I was last in your city I partially promised you I would keep you advised of things of importance, as they transpired in this section of the mountains, where gold lies imbedded in the soil and the weary miner by his toil, lifts it from its hidden rest and places it in circulation to add to the wealth of our country

There are a number of our miners rocking out the precious metal and others are waiting for the better times that are to come with the approach of spring The holidays are upon us, and everybody appears to be alive and enjoying themselves hugely, in the manner best suited to their varied tastes Parties and balls are frequent in number, and are conduced in the most fashionable manner with ladies enough in attendance to make them pleasant and agreeable

But while the most of our citizens are enjoying themselves in a harmless and pleasant manner, there are others who let their angry passions get the better of their judgment and use deadly weapons, to the injury of quiet citizens The truth of which we have just had fatal illustration of There was quite a shooting spree took place in our city on Christmas night, between Col Richardson and a Mr Brown of the "California Market" The gentlemen had a dispute in relation to business matters, which resulted in high words, and then to revolvers, there were several shots fired, three of which took effect—one in each arm of Col R and one in the leg of Mr B The wounds are not considered dangerous

On the same night a peaceable and quiet old gentleman by the name of Miller was shot from the effects of which he died before morning He was shot by a man named Donohue under circumstances as near as I could learn them, about as follows Donohue got on a bust to whip a man who had struck his 'woman,' went round town looking for his man got drunk, went to the "Horse Market Saloon," was spouling to shoot and show his bravery, shot twice into the ceiling, and then fired into the midst of some three or four persons who were setting around the stove and shot Mr Miller The murderer made his escape and is not yet taken, although the officers are in his track, in close pursuit He will be taken *

The snow is not deep here and the climate is mild Pack trains still continue to arrive, and it is thought they will run all winter with but little trouble Freights from Walla Walla and Umatilla are 30 to 35 cents per pound We have had some weddings and some births, etc I remain yours J M S

* By a letter through private hands we learn that a reward of $1,000 is offered for the arrest of Donohue—$500 by the Sheriff and $500 by the miners He is described is being "about five feet six or seven inches high, spare built smooth face, brown hair, inclined to curl rather genteel appearance, about 26 years old, and of Irish descent" The same letter adds "Miller was an inoffensive old man, some 45 years of age He was from Ohio, where he leaves a wife and three children He was a miner and had made considerable money The funeral was largely attended and great excitement prevailed among the miners"

CHANGE OF OPINION IN ENGLAND —The following passages from a private letter lately received is one of the many proofs of a change of opinion in England A year since the writer "saw distinctly" that the United States was about to be divided into four separate commonwealths Now he begins to see a different result

LONDON November 24th —I expect to see the rebellion choked before very long You must catch Lee, treat him as an officer, and not hang him You must catch Jeff Davis, et id genus omne and hang them—hang them like dogs The Duke of Wellington in 1830, when turned out of office and the passage of our Reform Bill imminent, might with greater show of reason have summoned the borough mongers to meet him at Oxford and protect by force of arms their 'peculiar institution' than the slave owners with you raise the standard of rebellion because for a season their day of power had passed Never was such a judgment passed before on the principle of self rule These men, who for fifty years nearly had almost uninterrupted sway in the councils of the United States have so little confidence in the principle, that as soon as they find themselves in a minority they 'turn their backs upon themselves' protest against the decision of the majority, range themselves as leaders beneath a rebel flag and rush into all the horrors of civil war The portfolio is abandoned for the rifle the dispatch is suppressed by the order of the day A fitting leader is found in Jeff Davis, the repudiator in Mississippi the perjured traitor in Washington and the unmitigated rebel in Richmond If you catch them, and you don't hang them you will deserve to be hung yourselves

Building is not Lairds trade, they have as it were, improvised it for the time, and cannot see I think be justified on any ground whatever I hold that when the Queen issues a proclamation exhorting her subjects to neutrality, that proclamation ought to have more force than an enacted law and should be received by all subjects as an appeal to their loyalty to help the advance of neutrality We are not only traders, but we claim to be leaders also in the world's civilization and as such we are bound to risk our trading interests if their maintenance endangers higher interests But if these considerations be set at naught it then becomes a question of how whether, in what is done offense against the law has been committed and instead of shunning the scrutiny you have done because evidence has not been attained in certain cases you ought rather to applaud the energy and promptness which has been shown in seizing the breakers of the law when the facts enabled it to be done Read the argument now going on in the case of the Alexandra and the proceedings when they appear in reference to the rams and I think you will be satisfied that John Bull has not failed you, and is not so perfidious as some of you would try to make it appear

THE ADDRESS OF CHEAP —The Speakership of the United States House of Representatives, on taking the chair, spoke as follows

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives To day will be marked in American history as the opening of a Congress assembled face to face with the most important questions of the century, and during whose existence the rebellion, which has passed its culmination will beyond all question—that is our army and navy and Administration—die a deserved death Not only will your conduct be watched with attentive eyes by your lobbyists here but the friends of liberty in the most distant lands will be interested spectators of your acts in this greater than Roman forum I may be the exception but I hope grave reflections with the calm thoughtfulness of statesmen, for the signs of the times as from that mere party which marks it instead of advancing legislation in the direction of that divine power which governs it those who form this Union and can give even greater vitality to it, will be seeking to save it from destruction It should be but the patriotic act of traitor Let us also remember that every truth which all history verifies that they who indulge in righteousness shall perish from the earth Thinking you with a grateful heart for this distinguished mark of your confidence and regard and appealing to you all for that support and forbearance by the aid of which alone I can hope to succeed, I am now ready to take the oath of office and enter upon the duties you have assigned me

"OLD JOHN BROWN" —The Cleveland, Ohio Herald publishes the following letter, never before printed, written by Capt John Brown, who was hung at Charlestown (Va) four years ago, to a relative and old friend in Windham Ohio It shows how calmly he contemplated death and clung to his opinions, even under the shadow of the gallows falling on him

CHARLESTOWN JEFFERSON CO VA Nov 19 1859

Rev Tauman H Wattles—My Dear Friend Your kind letter of the 14th inst was received some days since for which I thank you most heartily I suppose I am the first one to address you from this State of Virginia that you have ever had the least personal acquaintance with But my dear old friend I claim that fact alone entitles you to the warm regards of a fellow mortal and whose good and tender Christian principles I have had the best possible evidence of in the many years that I have known you and I am sure you will feel as I do that the fact that all the intervening years have been spent in the faithful employment of each in the service of our Master will be but a very little thing when we shall meet at last in the world of spirits Be assured that I have not forgotten you nor any of your kindness shown me in the days of my adversity and I now feel that I have only to commend you to the same God who has been my support and my only hope in the many years that I have known Him and humbly trust that I have been enabled in some measure to commend Him to others by my life as well as by my lips I have also been blessed with many kind friends who have been willing to administer to my wants in my distress and I have been made to feel that God who gives us the victory through faith is able to bless and save to the uttermost all who put their trust in Him

I should be sixty years old were I to live till May 9th 1864 I have enjoyed much in this life and have been remarkably preserved from having once learned to regard the world and the things therein as unsatisfying and since I remember but a very small amount of sleep so that I conclude that I have already realized a number of years more than those that reach their three score years and ten I have not yet been driven to the necessities of stealing and I would rather die than do it I have a family that I have generally endeavored to bring up in the fear of God and taught them to earn their bread by honest industry and I know very well how to sympathize with and relieve the needy and those that are afflicted in body and mind since I myself have been a child of misfortune I have also endeavored to bring up my children in the habit of implicit obedience to their parents and I have the unspeakable satisfaction of knowing that they love me as well perhaps better than they ever did and I have also the satisfaction of knowing that I have been enabled to bring my family to the point of willingness to part with me and to see me hung rather than I should have been induced to have done anything that would have been inconsistent with my profession and I am fully persuaded that I have made my peace with God through the blood of His dear Son and that I am prepared to go at any time that He may see fit to call me I have no anxiety about my future state and I am cheerful in the midst of my many afflictions and trials I have a great deal more than I can write but I have not the time nor the strength to write more than a few words I have written in great haste and under many disadvantages I am a prisoner in the hands of those who delight in shedding blood and I am in chains and expect soon to be in my grave But I am not alone for I am surrounded by hosts of friends who will see that I am not molested by any mob violence I am waiting my trial which will be brought on in a few days and which will be a mere form and will be followed by my execution which will be appointed to take place on some day between the 1st and 15th of December next I have no fear of the result of my trial for I am not conscious of having done anything deserving of punishment but have only interfered with things that I had a perfect right to interfere with according to the golden rule I have fully made up my mind to the fact that I am to be hung but I am not discouraged nor in the least disheartened I am cheerful and happy and perfectly resigned to my fate I have no doubt that my blood will do more good in the ground than it will in my veins I have no doubt that I am worth infinitely more to the cause of God and humanity dead than I could be alive and that my poor wife will be more than compensated for my loss by the widow's portion which she will have in the universal increase of the family of man which will be the result of my death I am waiting the hour of my departure with the most entire composure and cheerfulness and I am only anxious to get home I have no time to write more I have written in great haste and under many disadvantages I am a prisoner in the hands of those who delight in shedding blood and I am in chains and expect soon to be in my grave But I am not alone for I am surrounded by hosts of friends who will see that I am not molested by any mob violence I am waiting my trial which will be brought on in a few days and which will be a mere form and will be followed by my execution which will be appointed to take place on some day between the 1st and 15th of December next I have no fear of the result of my trial for I am not conscious of having done anything deserving of punishment but have only interfered with things that I had a perfect right to interfere with according to the golden rule I have fully made up my mind to the fact that I am to be hung but I am not discouraged nor in the least disheartened I am cheerful and happy and perfectly resigned to my fate I have no doubt that my blood will do more good in the ground than it will in my veins I have no doubt that I am worth infinitely more to the cause of God and humanity dead than I could be alive and that my poor wife will be more than compensated for my loss by the widow's portion which she will have in the universal increase of the family of man which will be the result of my death I am waiting the hour of my departure with the most entire composure and cheerfulness and I am only anxious to get home I have no time to write more

Yours truly

NO JOKE —At the theatre in New Orleans, when one of the minstrels propounded the conundrum, "Why is the President of the United States like an owl in the day time?" and before he had given the answer, "Because he's always a blinkin, a Connecticut man who was present, said in a low tone of voice to some of his friends around him "because he is a d— fool" An army officer who overheard the insulting remark, caused the offender to be arrested and the next day he was brought before the Court and sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment

MOTHERS WHO VALUE THE LIFE OF THEIR CHILDREN should always keep DOCTOR WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM on hand, which, if given every few minutes, in the first stages of this disease will GIVE ALMOST IMMEDIATE RELIEF, and reduce the inflammation, and cause the child to throw off the mucus which causes suffocation

HOW MANY A MOTHER has waked up at MIDNIGHT AND FOUND HER CHILD BREATHING HARD, ATTENDED WITH PECULIAR WHISTLING COUGH which would be relieved by the use of DR WM HALL'S BALSAM and restore a thousand times the cost, by having it once in time of need, to give relief to the struggling child?

STEAMER SENATOR —This new candidate for popular favor in the steamboat line has so far neared completion that it is proposed to put steam on her to day, and if the machinery works properly, make a trial trip This will hide fair to be a worthy successor of the steamer E D Baker, whose unlucky fate we chronicled a short time since Her hull is a model of strength and beauty, charming to the eye of an amateur in such matters Her style of build as massive and roomy, with an entire absence of that tawdry finish which so often defaces an ill kept boat Her cabins are neat and plain, amply and tastefully furnished Her freight deck is clear and unbanked producing far more storage capacity than a glance at her would warrant Her engines are not as large as might be used to advantage on such a boat, being five feet stroke, with 14 inch cylinders There is no doubt, however but that she will prove herself a fast boat even with this disadvantage She will shortly take the place of the Rival in the line between this place and Oregon City We wish her abundant success and prosperity

ARRIVAL FROM THE CASCADES.—The steamer Julia, which left this city on Thursday morning for the Cascades, reached her destination on Friday, about nine o'clock A M, having met considerable obstructions by ice at Cape Horn On Saturday she returned to this city, with an express from the upper country Persons by the Julia report the Columbia frozen only about seven miles below the Dalles The steamer Idaho was frozen in a cove just below Crater Point, the thickest ice about her being six inches thick, so considerable labor will have to be performed before this boat can be relieved from her pounce The express and passengers who came down on the Julia came over the trail to the Cascades

THE CALIFORNIA MAIL.—Owing to the high stage of water in the Willamette at Corvallis, on the 14th, the California Stage Company's agent at that place was notified by the Ferry man that it would be impossible to cross the creek, so it was laid over one night, and the next day the mail and express matter was forwarded by boat to this city The mail that arrived here yesterday was crossed in a small boat at Pudding river, when the coach returned to Oregon City

GRAND MILITARY BALL AT VANCOUVER —A grand military ball will be given by the soldiers at Ft Vancouver, on Thursday evening, January 22d, for the benefit of the sick and wounded soldiers in the East. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Tickets $3 00, including supper. Legal tenders will be taken at par Hartz's celebrated string band is engaged for the occasion. A carriage will be run free

Great quantities of ice were reported floating in the Columbia yesterday, and it may be inferred that the ice has broken up at least as far as the Dalles, and that uninterrupted navigation from this on may be looked for.

The steamer Express, which started out to look after the Julia, was compelled to stop at Harris's Island, on account of some disarrangement in her pumps.

The weather for the past two days has been exceptionable in all cases, affording every one a chance to walk out and take an airing. Yesterday our streets presented quite a metropolitan appearance.

Regular trips will be resumed by the Julia this morning, but no connection is expected above the Cascades before Wednesday.

An insane man was arrested on the streets yesterday, and placed in confinement in the county jail.

Willamette Theatre.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

I notice that Mr. Holmes advertises his Theatre for rent. I would respectfully suggest that if he would expend two or three months rent in improvements on the building it would be money well invested, and he would have less occasion to advertise it to let. In the first place the building should be raised two or three feet out of the water—an arched ceiling, with ventilator put in over head, as the present ceiling is much too low, the back seats in the dress circle raised to give a better view of the stage, and then the whole premises should undergo a thorough cleaning, with water, white-wash and paint.

Portland needs and would support a theatre the year round, without any very extraordinary attraction on the stage, provided the building was made comfortable and pleasant In the present state the attraction must be very great to induce a person to go there the second time, especially when the water comes up to the front seats in the parquette, and the whole building has, to give it the least offensive name a mouldy smell

By the judicious expenditure of a few hundred dollars, the present Theatre could be made attractive to the public, and profitable to the owner, and would obviate the necessity for a more pretentious building for several years This advice is given for the benefit of all parties interested, "free gratis, for nothing" by one who has had some experience in catering to the public

NEW QUARTZ LEDGE IN BOISE —By a private letter received in this city on Saturday we learn that an extensive ledge of gold and silver bearing rock has been discovered in Boise county about six miles above Pioneer City This ledge is thought by those who are competent to judge, to be an extension of the Pioneer ledge, which has always been supposed to be the fountain head of the rich placers now being developed in that auriferous region.

Defying Time or element's commotion.
For Ladies' "Work Stands," and many a notion
To give their dear hearts a most pleasing thrill,
To draw the sigh, Oh Me! then, with emotion,
"If our good man would buy with right good will.
Then should we comforts get, and you your purses fill"

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Wanted—A Minister

We have been without a pastor
Some eighteen months or more,
And though candidates are plenty—
We've had them a score
All full of "up top" preachers,
Very learned, no doubt—
We're just as far from suiting
As when we set out

The first who came amongst us
By a means was the worst
But then we didn't think of that,
Because he was the first
He rolled up to the custom
Two or three a few
Below the knees so earnest
He terribles what to do

There was a fair young fellow,
With serious earnest way
Who left from sacred slumber,
Had surely won the day.
His first sermon impression
Of Malachi he drew
Went four hours, he preached,
I vow to you

The pious goodly people,
Had not a fault to find
His fervor and searching preaching
They thought the very kind
As I all went smooth and pleasant
Until the first three views
Of a fifteen minute sermon
Who set the highest pews

On three his pastoral dealing
Made but very hit
The cost of gospel teaching
Was pulled right out
Of three his fate was sett—
Actually turned out!
And preach to please the sinners
If he would get a call

Next came a spruce young dandy
Who wore his hair long
Another set was studies
And his voice soft over strong
And one New Haven student
Was worse than all those—
We couldn't hear the sermon,
For thinking of his nose

Then a wearying of candidates
We broke the country through
Had doctrine and prof score
To find one that would do
And after much discussion
On who should be the luck,
With tolerable agreement
We fixed on Dr Parke

Here then was the right at settled,
But were unwise to find
Our flattering invitation
Respectfully declined
We turned to Dr Hopkins
To help us in the inch
We strangely thought the College
Had claims above our church

Next we dispatched committees
By two and threes, to urge
The talents for a Sabbath
Of the Bay Shallow Splurge
He came—a marked sensation
(So wonderful his style)
Folk wed the creaking of his boots
As he passed along the aisle

His tones were so affecting,
His gestures so divine,
A lady fainted in the hymn,
Before the second line
And on that day he gave us,
In words clear and loud
The greatest prayer ever addressed
To an enlightened crowd

He preached a double sermon,
And gave us angels food,
On such a lovely topic—
"The Joys of solitude"
All full of sweet descriptions
Of flowers and purling streams,
Of warbling birds and moonlit groves,
And golden sunset beams

Of faith and true repentance,
He nothing had to say
He rounded all the corners,
And smoothed the ragged way,
Managed with great skillfulness
To entertain and please,
And leave the sinner's conscience
Completely at its ease

Six hundred is the salary
We gave in former days—
We thought it very liberal
And f and it hard to raise.
But when we took the papers,
We had no need to urge
To raise a cool two thousand
For the Rev Shallow Splurge

In vain were all our efforts—
We had no chance at all—
We found ten city churches
Had given him a call,
And he in prayerful waiting,
Was keeping all in tow,
But where they bid the highest
'Twas wh spered he would go

And now, good Christian brothers,
We ask your earnest prayers
That God would send a Shepherd
To guide our flock's affairs,
With this clear understanding,
A man to meet our views
Must preach to please the sinners,
And fill the vacant pews

An Indignation Visit.

(Concluded.)

The third day brought no change in the aspect of things, and no special comfort to either of the unhappy ladies Both felt disgraced in the eyes of their neighbors, and each was angry with the other for having provoked her to unseemly anger

In the meantime, Miss Perkins was gliding in and out among the various families in the village, smooth of tongue, insinuating, yet all seeing and all-hearing. On the fourth day, Mrs Johnson came in turn She received her usual welcome, but soon saw that her friend (every lady in the town was her "friend") seemed ill at ease and was under considerable restraint Every moment Mrs Johnson expected to hear some question or remark of the subject of her late trouble with Mrs Pendergrass But not the slightest allusion was made thereto This was strange, Mrs J could not understand it What had Mrs Pendergrass said? Something very discreditable, or else Miss Perkins would not be so silent on the subject—a silence evidently meant to save her feelings At last, unable to endure the suspense any longer, Mrs Johnson determined to open the way for Miss Perkins by saying—

"When did you see Martin Pendergrass?"

"Well, let me think" Miss Perkins spoke almost indifferently "It is now three or four days, I believe since I was there Yes, now I remember It's just four days I saw her on Tuesday."

That was the memorable day!

"In the morning or afternoon?" inquired Mrs Johnson

"It was in the morning Why do you ask?" And Miss Perkins looked curiously at her friend

Mrs Johnson's eyes dropped to the floor.

"You haven't seen her since?"

Mrs. Johnson looked up with a more confident manner

"Not since, nor have I heard of her being out anywhere, which is a little curious, now I come to think of it, for she goes about a great deal, you know As Mrs Jenkins says of her—she's always on the run"

"Maybe she's sick?" remarked Mrs Johnson.

"I shouldn't wonder, for I don't know of anything but sickness that would keep her three days in the house By the way," added Mrs. Perkins "don't you remember that funny speech you made about her Hester once?".

"No; what was it?"

"I've laughed about it a hundred times since, it was so ludicrous, and yet so true Hester, you know, is as homely as mud"

"She is not handsome, certainly," replied Mrs Johnson "But she's good, and that's worth far more than beauty"

"Just what you said afterwards, to take the edge off of your funny speech"

"What was the speech? I have entirely forgotten it"

"You said that you could make a better face of dough Ha! ha!"

"It was thoughtless and unkind, and by no means expressed my true feelings towards the child Ludicrous ideas often present themselves to my mind, and I have the bad habit of clothing them in language when it were better to be silent"

"Somebody who heard you say this, was kind enough to tell Mrs Pendergrass."

"Oh, no!" Mrs Johnson looked surprised and grieved

"It is true, and she was very angry about it"

"I don't wonder," said Mrs Johnson "It was thoughtless in me to make the remark but wicked in the one who repeated it"

"Wicked and malicious," replied Miss Perkins, who thus sought to divert all suspicion from herself

After that, the conversation flagged

"I wonder if Mrs Pendergrass is sick" Mrs Johnson had been silent for some minute, and the remark evidenced considerable interest

"I shouldn't wonder," said Miss Perkins Suppose we call over and see her?"

To this Mrs Johnson assented and made herself ready with particular dispatch

"How's your mother?" Miss Perkins asked of Hester who opened the door for them

She is right well Won't you walk in"

You may be sure Mrs Pendergrass started when she saw them and turned all manner of colors Mrs Johnson, as she advanced towards her, said—

"Will you answer me a question Mrs Pendergrass?" She spoke coldly and respectfully certainly, but one was answered with some little show of offended personal dignity

"Who told you that I had spoken unkindly of your daughter"

"Miss Perkins" was the frank answer

"Oh no—no Mrs Pendergrass, you forgot It wasn't me you forget Miss Perkins was all in a flutter

"Not at all My memory is very clear on the subject You were my informant and nobody else"

"What did she say?" inquired Mrs Johnson

"Why, that you said my Hester was as ugly as sin"

"I never used the language nor anything like it," was positively answered

"Oh, but Mrs Johnson, did you not say you could make"

Yes, Miss Perkins, I did utter the thoughtless, silly speech, I regretted it in a moment afterwards And I also said that she was good, and that was best of all Did she tell you that also?"

"No, Mrs Johnson, she did not, evil mischief maker that she is!" said Mrs Pendergrass rising and extending her hand

Mrs Johnson grasped it, and replied—

"Forgive my foolish speech, that had in it no real meaning, and would have done no harm if there had been no evil tongue to bear it to your ears"

"And forgive my hasty words uttered in blind passion," said Mrs Pendergrass. "I have been sufficiently punished"

"And so have I As for your Hester, I have always liked her, and have said many and many a time, as Miss Perkins well knows—for I have said it to her, that I have wished my Ruthy was as thoughtful of her mother, and as kind a nong her brothers and sisters As to good looks, I don't think there is anything to boast of on my side of the house Ruthy is plain enough, I am sure, and if you cannot make as good face out of putty, I'd not give much for your skill"

A gleam of kindly feeling threw its warm rays over the flushed countenance of Maria Pendergrass The outraged mother was fully satisfied She saw that neither will nor contempt had darkened the mind of her neighbor, who had, as every one knew, "a funny way of speaking" sometimes, but meant no harm, and was a true woman at heart

In a few moments a change came over the face of Mrs Pendergrass, as her thoughts took a new direction. A sudden fire flashed in her small black eyes her brows fell, and her flexible lips took a firm, angry curve. Turning to the astonished and confused Miss Perkins, she said sharply

"And now, my lady, you shall have a piece of my mind! You tattling, mischief making wicked—"

Mrs Pendergrass was losing herself, and would have gone quite passion blind again, had not Mrs Johnson laid a hand firmly upon her arm, and said—

"Maria! Maria Pendergrass! Don't waste words on her! She isn't worth a decent woman's indignation."

She grasped her neighbor just in time, as a drowning man is sometimes caught and saved at the last moment of immersion, and drew her back to dry ground of reason and self possession.

"Right! Ruthy Ann! Thank you for the timely words" And Mrs Pendergrass caught her breath like one who had been on the verge of suffocation. "I must say this, much, however," and she turned again to Miss Perkins

"Don't darken my doors again, you have done so once too often"

Miss Perkins arose, and turning meekly away, retired slowly, and with the air of one who has been deeply injured

"The speaking hypocrite!" ejaculated Mrs Pendergrass

"I would have liked her better if she had shown fire and fight," said Mrs Johnson "But your secret detractors are always spiritless cowards Let her go! She's not worth, as I have said, a decent woman's indignation, and I am vexed when I think that her smooth tongue and false heart were able to arouse to such angry turbulence the feelings of two women who had been friends from girlhood up to middle life And now, Maria, if you hear any more of my foolish speeches, come to me in all friendly frankness not as you—"

"Don't fear another indignation visit Ruthy Ann!" said Mrs Pendergrass, interrupting her neighbor "I'll never make such a fool of myself again—never!"

"Have you ever spoken of it to any one?" asked Mrs Johnson a little gravely

"No, have you?

"Not even to my husband I was too much ashamed of myself"

"Good!" said Mrs Pendergrass, "it is our own secret"

"And so it must remain By its memory we will be faster friends"

Many a good laugh they had afterwards to themselves about the skill of Mrs Johnson in making faces out of dough and putty, and over that ludicrous indignation meeting, which both had the good sense to forgive, and the humor to enjoy

They were friends, though within an ace of being made enemies for life as thousands are made, by thoughtless words, too freely, yet innocently spoken It is the tattler who is the real social criminal Her offence is capital, and there should be no reprieve—Arthur's Home Magazine

To the Public.

I WOULD HEREBY CALL THE ATTENTION of the public to the fact that on the first of May next there will be due by the Internal Revenue Law a statement of income for the year last ended and I would say that it is just as well to keep an account of your business from now on and be ready to make statement when called upon by the Assessor

Under the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal revenue per instructions dated December 1st all expenses for repairs to the building or to the same property on which an income tax is to be made For instance a person rents a store for $60 per month and pays that amount all of the year he is just as much entitled to a deduction of $720 for rent as though he owned the property from which rents were derived the same applies to steam boats sawmills and other like property but all money derived from interest on notes, Bills Mortgages and from dividends must be returned as income with such a portion of the whole has been expended in repairs on buildings steamboats &c

If persons will prepare their accounts and statements showing such items relative to the same as they have received amount expended and for what purpose, then with the facts in my possession I will be able to warrant the confidence of persons in country who occasionally require to make purchases through agency of a reliable party or who may be looking for a permanent agent in San Francisco To such I would advertiser offers his services assuring all who may entrust orders to him that no effort shall be spared to execute their commissions satisfactorily

GERMAN BITTERS,

PREPARED BY

DR. C. M. JACKSON,

PHILADELPHIA, PENN.,

WILL EFFECTUALLY CURE

LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, JAUNDICE,

Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver or Stomach.

such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Flutterings at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c, Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imagining of Evil, and great Depression of Spirits.

And will positively prevent Yellow Fever, Bilious Fever, &c.

THEY CONTAIN

NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKY!

They will cure the above in every instance (except where the system has been reduced too low by other means) and restore the patient to perfect health.

INDEED FEW of the many universal remedies of Hoofland's German Bitters are known in this section of the country, as they have been introduced into general notice but a few years, and have been kept principally in the hands of Merchants, who have sold them as a specific for Liver Complaint and Bitters.

Beware of Bitters that cause drunkenness, and will leave the system in a worse condition than before taking. Such Bitters are made of cheap and worthless rum, whiskey or common proof spirits, and are sold at 40 cents per gallon the first disguised by some Druggist.

These class of Bitters have caused, and will continue to cause as long as they can be sold, the death of thousands of the drunkard. By their use one or two glasses will make under the influence of the vilest worthless drunkard the desire for liquor is ever to be kept up, and the result of it is, all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death

For those who desire a valuable tonic we will have Hoofland's German Bitters, we publish that if they will compare one Bottle of Hoofland's German Bitters with any Three Quarts of Cheap Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preference of the former, as it will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence as a tonic or stimulant, all the numerous preparations of the day, with a fraction of the cost. Therefore we say to the weak and will cost much less. In a word have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, the like of which has not been before presented to the American people.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Are not a new and untried article but have stood the test of a fifty years trial by the American people and their reputation and sale are now unrivalled by any similar preparation in the country.

The proprietors have the names of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
and
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev J Newton Brown D D Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although I object to the use of recommending Patent Medicines in general, through fear of the evil effects they may do results to the cures to be effected myself, I have received from a thorough investigation in the hope that I may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters prepared by Dr C M Jackson of this city, because I was personally acquainted with him for many years under the impression that they were to me an invaluable remedy for my complaint. Indeed Dr Physician, for encouragement to try them when my case was pronounced by other Physicians and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by a modest relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before and had almost despaired of ever attaining. I do not, of course, thank God and my friend for it by recommending to the use of them
